Sensory Stories Webinar

Engaging SEND pupils in Quality Storytelling

Wensum English Hub are delighted to welcome Emma Spiers for a free online webinar delving into the world of sensory stories, which are instantly and inclusively brought to life for PMLD students and those with significant barriers to learning, through a fun and fascinating approach.

You'll learn what sensory stories are and how they relate to brain based learning theory, how they support sensory processing, which stories to choose and how to create a sensory story experience.

You'll take away clear guidance for setting up your own sensory stories approach, a simple bank of sensory stories to try straight away and top tips from professionals who have used sensory stories with heaps of success!

With this training you can establish high expectations and a reading culture by meeting the needs of all readers, as well as nurturing a love of reading by bringing books to life.
